When should I reach out for help?

I used to...	...But now	Help is urgently needed when
Be socially and physically active...	I find myself reaching for more unhealthy coping strategies to keep up with my activities.	I feel isolated, even when I'm with the people closest to me.
Have normal mood fluctuations – I coped well and took things in stride...	More often than not, I feel stressed, worried, nervous, angry, tearful, or sad.	I feel a high level of anxiety, panic, or deep sadness every day.
Be productive and consistent in my performance...	My academic or work performance has decreased. I'm procrastinating or forgetting things.	I can't seem to make good decisions in key areas of my life.
Be energetic...	I'm irritable, impatient, panicked, restless, or fatigued.	I constantly feel exhausted – some days I can't get out of bed.
Sleep well...	I have difficulty relaxing, or my mind is preoccupied by intrusive thoughts.	My thinking and emotions feel out of control.
Be confident in myself and comfortable with others...	It's getting difficult to socialize. I find myself cancelling plans and leaving texts unanswered.	I'm not acting like myself – my important relationships are strained and stressful.
Find meaning and success in life...	I'm starting to feel worthless.	I feel overwhelmed by it all. I've thought about suicide.
